Random Queer Character Generator

by Cadera Spindrift

QGen: Random Queer Character Generator

QGen is a series of dice tables that can be used to randomly generate a queer NPC for any tabletop roleplaying game.

Important Note: These tables are designed for creating interesting NPCs, and do not reflect actual demographics of queer people in any way!

Qex

The example character we'll be referring to throughout this document is named Qex – standing for “queer example”. You would, of course, use a name of your own choosing if you use this to create an NPC.

No Fascists

If you're a fascist, you're not welcome to play this game. It's against the rules.

If you're reading this and thinking, “You just call everyone you disagree with a fascist,” then you're probably a fascist, or incapable of drawing inferences from context and acknowledging a dangerous political climate that causes the oppressed to be hyperbolic.

Don't play this game. Heal yourself. Grow. Learn. Watch some Mister Roger's Neighborhood or something.

Gender

The first thing we're going to determine about Qex is their gender. (Since we haven't determined yet which pronouns Qex uses, we're going with a non-specific singular "they" for now.)

In many roleplaying games, characters have a quality that's called their lineage, ancestry, culture, race, or species. If Qex is from a lineage that predominantly has two genders, male and female, roll on Lineages with Binary Genders to determine Qex's gender.

Table 1: Lineages with Binary Genders

d20	Gender	d20	Gender
1	Xenogender	11	Agender
2	Male	12	Male
3	Female	13	Bigender
4	Agender	14	Genderfluid
5	Bigender	15	Demimale
6	Demifemale	16	Agender
7	Male	17	Female
8	Agender	18	Male
9	Female	19	Female
10	Genderfluid	20	Xenogender

Agender Having no gender or not identifying with any gender.

Bigender A multigender identity that encompasses two genders. These need not be binary genders.

Demifemale A demigender with a connection to femaleness. Also sometimes called demigirl.

Demigender A gender identity that feels a partial, but not full, connection to a specific gender. In a culture with 3 or more genders, roll randomly to determine which gender Qex feels connected to.

Demimale A demigender with a connection to maleness. Also sometimes called demiboy.

Female One of the two traditional binary genders. Not everyone who is female has a binary gender, however.

Genderfluid Having a gender identity that changes or cycles over time. Roll an additional 1d4+1 genders to determine which genders Qex shifts between.

Male One of the two traditional binary genders. Not everyone who is male has a binary gender, however.

Multigender Feeling a connection to two or more genders, sometimes simultaneously. These need not be binary genders.

Queer Queer here indicates that someone doesn't fit into neat categories; they may not even be able to fully define their own gender, but just feel "queer".

Xenogender This refers to someone whose gender isn't expressed in terms of "male" or "female" or the absence of such, but instead may identify with an abstract concept, a color or other sensory characteristics, or a real or imaginary type of creature.

QEXample

Cadera is rolling up a version of Qex for a contemporary game in the 21st century, so she rolls on the table above. With a result of 10, she finds that Qex is genderfluid.

She then rolls a 1 on the d4 – see the description of genderfluid above – which means Qex's fluidity is primarily between two different genders. A roll of 8 establishes one of those genders as agender, and a subsequent roll of 15 gives demimale. Cadera decides they identify as a demiboy instead, because that sounds more playful.

If Qex is from a lineage that has no intrinsic gender – such as androids or shapechangers – roll on Lineage without Assigned Genders.

Table 2: Lineage without Assigned Genders

2d10	Gender	2d10	Gender
2	Demimale	12	Agender
3	Bigender	13	Agender
4	Female	14	Female
5	Demifemale	15	Xenogender
6	Male	16	Female
7	Genderfluid	17	Demimale
8	Male	18	Male
9	Agender	19	Genderfluid
10	Agender	20	Demifemale
11	Agender

Some Definitions:

- Agender Having no gender or not identifying with any gender.
- Bigender A multigender identity that encompasses two genders. These need not be binary genders.
- Demifemale A demigender with a connection to femaleness. Also sometimes called demigirl.
- Demigender A gender identity that feels a partial, but not full, connection to a specific gender. In a culture with 3 or more genders, roll randomly to determine which gender Qex feels connected to.
- Demimale A demigender with a connection to maleness. Also sometimes called demiboy.
- Female One of the two traditional binary genders. Not everyone who is female has a binary gender, however.
- Genderfluid Having a gender identity that changes or cycles over time. Roll an additional 1d6 genders to determine which genders Qex shifts between.
- Male One of the two traditional binary genders. Not everyone who is male has a binary gender, however.
- Multigender Feeling a connection to two or more genders, sometimes simultaneously. These need not be binary genders.
- Queer Queer here indicates that someone doesn't fit into neat categories; they may not even be able to fully define their own gender, but just feel "queer".
- Xenogender This refers to someone whose gender isn't expressed in terms of "male" or "female" or the absence of such, but instead may identify with an abstract concept, a color or other sensory characteristics, or a real or imaginary type of creature.

QEXample

For a science fiction game, Cadera rolled up a Qex who is an android. Androids don't necessarily have an intrinsic gender, so she rolls on this table. With a roll of 15, she learns that Qex is xenogender.

Cadera decides that Qex's complex gender involves an identification with starships; Qex is vesselgender.

And finally, if Qex is from a lineage with 3 or more genders, consult Dice for Lineages with 3+ Genders for the dice to roll; make a numbered list of the gender options; and roll on Lineages with 3+ Genders.

Table 3: Dice for Lineages with 3+ Genders

Number of Genders	Dice to Roll
3	d4+d6
4	d6+d8
5	d8+d12
6	d12+d20

QEXample

Cadera needs a third version of Qex, for a fantasy game in which one of the races has 4 genders: top, bottom, strange, and charm. Noting that the chart says d6+d8, she makes a list of the four genders:

1. top
2. bottom
3. strange
4. charm

Table 4: Lineages with 3+ Genders

Die Total	Gender	Die Total	Gender

14	Third Gender	29	Demigender
15	Fifth Gender	30	Hexagender
16	First Gender	31	First Gender
		32	Sixth Gender

Some Definitions:

Demigender A gender identity that feels a partial, but not full, connection to a specific gender. In a culture with 3 or more genders, roll randomly to determine which gender Qex feels connected to.

Fifth Gender In a culture with at least 5 genders, this is the fifth one on the list.

First Gender In a culture with at least 3 genders, this is the first one on the list.

Fourth Gender In a culture with at least 4 genders, this is the fourth one on the list.

Hexagender A multigender identity that encompasses all six gender of a culture with six genders.

Multigender Feeling a connection to two or more genders, sometimes simultaneously. These need not be binary genders.

Quadgender A multigender identity that encompasses all four genders of a culture with four genders. In a culture of five or six genders, roll randomly to see which genders are excluded.

Queer Queer here indicates that someone doesn't fit into neat categories; they may not even be able to fully define their own gender, but just feel "queer".

Quintgender A multigender identity that encompasses all five genders of a culture with five genders. In a culture of six genders, roll randomly to see which gender is excluded.

Second Gender In a culture with at least 3 genders, this is the second one on the list.

Sixth Gender In a culture with at least 6 genders, this is the sixth one on the list.

Third Gender In a culture with at least 3 genders, this is the third one on the list.

Trigender A multigender identity that encompasses all three genders of a culture with three genders. In a culture of more than three genders, roll randomly to see which genders are excluded.

Xenogender This refers to someone whose gender isn't expressed in terms of "male" or "female" or the absence of such, but instead may identify with an abstract concept, a color or other sensory characteristics, or a real or imaginary type of creature.

QExample

The d8 rolls an 8, and the d6 rolls 3, for a total of 11. This means that Qex is of the fourth gender. Counting down the list, Cadera determines that Qex's gender is charm.

Trans, Cis, or Otherwise?

Now that we've determined Qex's gender, we can roll to see if they're transgender, cisgender, or something else.

Table 5: Trans, Cis, or Otherwise?

2d6 Result	2d6 Result
2 Cisgender	8 Transgender
3 Queer	9 Cisgender
4 Neither	10 Neither
5 Cisgender	11 Queer
6 Transgender	12 Transgender
7 Cisgender

Definitions

Cisgender A cis person is someone whose gender matches the gender they were assigned at birth.

Neither Some people don't identify strongly with being either cis or trans, and that's okay.

Queer As before, this is a catch-all category that usually indicates a rejection of strict labels.

Transgender A trans person is someone whose gender doesn't match the gender they were assigned at birth.

QExample

Rolling on the table above, Cadera gets an 8, meaning that Qex – at least this version of Qex – is transgender.

Open or Hidden?

Does Qex speak openly of being trans, cis, or otherwise? Or do they keep quiet about it? Roll on The Closet? to find out.

Table 6: The Closet?

2d4 Result	2d4 Result
2 Still questioning	6 Proud but quiet
3 Openly queer	7 Self-closeted
4 "No comment"	8 Closeted
5 Loud and proud

QExample

On the Closet? table, Cadera gets a result of 4. So while she knows Qex is trans, she also knows that Qex doesn't comment on it. It's really nobody else's business, after all – or at least, that's how Qex views the situation.

Pronouns

Anyone can use any pronouns they like! You can find Qex's pronouns by rolling 3d6 on Pronouns.

If a result has three periods (...), then record the pronouns and roll again on this table.

Genders from Specific Cultures

QGen doesn't have random rolls to create NPCs with genders tied to specific cultures, such as hijra, two-spirit, or fa'afafine.

Since the author isn't from any of those cultures, she doesn't feel comfortable in attempting to translate those genders in a roleplaying game. If you are interested in learning about culture-specific genders, you're encouraged to do so – but directly from the works of people from those cultures, not from QGen!

Table 7: Pronouns

3d6 Pronouns	3d6 Pronouns
3 No pronouns	11 He/him
4 Xe/xem/xyr	12 He/him and ...
5 Any pronouns except ...	13 They/them
6 Neopronouns	14 Any pronouns
7 She/her and ...	15 They/them and ...
8 They/them	16 Fae/Faer
9 They/them and ...	17 Ze/Hir
10 She/her	18 It/Its

Some Definitions:

Any Pronouns Some people have no problem answering to any pronoun set.

Fae/Faer These usually indicate some feeling of identification with faeries or fae creatures.

He/Him These are the traditional “male” pronouns.

It/Its Although it's wrong to call anyone it if you don't know their pronouns, some people feel more comfortable with it/its.

Neopronouns Neopronouns tend to be very unique to the individual, and can vary widely.

No Pronouns Some people prefer to not be addressed by pronouns at all.

She/Her These are the traditional “female” pronouns.

They/Them This is usually a singular they.

QExample

Cadera realizes she needs pronouns for Qex, so rolls 3d6 and consults the Pronouns table. Her roll of 9 gives a result of they/them and ... which means Qex uses not just they/them but will also accept at least one other pronoun set.

A second roll on the table gives she/her, so Qex's pronouns are officially they/she.

Attraction

Attraction isn't a simple “do you like boys or do you like girls?” situation. It's a lot more complicated than that.

The first thing to recognize is that there are varying types of attractions that someone might experience – being sexually attracted to someone is not necessarily the same thing as being romantically attracted to them, and vice versa.

For purposes of QGen, we've simplified this to look at just those two primary types of attraction – sexual and romantic.

Sexual Attraction

You can roll on Sexual Attraction to determine whether Qex is asexual or allosexual.

Table 8: Sexual Attraction

Sexual 2d4 Attraction	Sexual 2d4 Attraction
2 Queer	8 Asexual
3 Asexual	9 Demisexual
4 Allosexual	10 Allosexual
5 Greysexual	11 Queer
6 Asexual	12 Asexual
7 Allosexual

Some Definitions:

Allosexual Allosexual people, in contrast to asexual people, experience a desire to have sex with another person.

Asexual Most asexual people experience a lack of sexual attraction. Some may be disinterested in sex, not have a sex drive, or may be repulsed by the idea of sex.

Demisexual A demisexual person is one who doesn't experience sexual attraction to someone unless they have a deep emotional connection.

Greysexual Also called grey asexual, greysexual refers to someone who relates to asexuality but feels their experience isn't fully defined by the term asexual.

Queer As a type of sexual attraction, queerness is defined by each individual, usually in a way that rejects traditional boundaries.

QEXample

Cadera rolls a total of 9 on the Sexual Attraction table - meaning that Qex is demisexual.

Romantic Attraction

Roll 2d4 and check Romantic Attraction to discover if Qex is aromantic or allromantic.

Table 9: Romantic Attraction

2d4 Sexuality	2d4 Sexuality
2 Aromantic	8 Aromantic
3 Queer	9 Greyromantic
4 Alloromantic	10 Alloromantic
5 Demiromantic	11 Aromantic
6 Aromantic	12 Queer
7 Alloromantic

Some Definitions:

Alloromantic Alloromantic people, in contrast to aromantic people, experience romantic attraction to other people.

Aromantic Most aromantic people experience a lack of romantic attraction.

Demiromantic A demiromantic person is one who doesn't experience romantic attraction to someone unless they have a deep emotional connection.

Greyromantic Greyromantic refers to someone who relates to aromanticism but feels their experience isn't fully defined by the term aromantic.

Queer As a type of romantic attraction, queerness is defined by each individual, usually in a way that rejects traditional boundaries.

QExample

A roll of 4 on the Romantic Attraction table finds that qex is alloromantic, which is a fancy way of saying "not aromantic."

Attraction Parameters

For each type of attraction – sexual attraction and romantic attraction – roll once on Broad Category of Attraction. You can also roll on Specific Type of Attraction if you want to pin down Qex's attractions.

For these tables, first roll 1d6. Then, if there are three periods after the result, roll another d6 and add it to the first one.

Female and Male? Masculine and Feminine??

The tables for attraction parameters refer to binary genders. Does that mean attraction is based on the traditional gender binary, while gender themselves are not?

No! In this case, it's reflective of how queer people tend to describe the groups to which we're attracted in very broad terms. You should assume that "female" and "male" cover a much broader category of people than the gender binary would have you believe.

Likewise, the identifications of "feminine", "masculine", and "androgynous" reflect how queer people talk about our sexualities, but don't take those terms literally either. "Feminine" and "Masculine" might mean "femme and butch" in a lesbian context, and "bear and twink" in a gay male context.

Table 10: Broad Category of Attraction

1d6+ Result	1d6+ Result
1 Everyone, but especially ...	10 Female
2 Female	11 Male
3 Male and ...	12 Female and ...
4 Female and ...	13 Non-binary and ...
5 Male	14 Everyone, but especially ...
6 Non-binary and ...	15 Male and ...
7 Everyone	16 Female
8 Non-binary	17 Non-binary
9 Male and ...	18+ Everyone

QExample

Rolling for Qex's sexual attraction first, Cadera gets a 1 – Everyone, but especially ... She notes this down, and since the result ends in three dots, and rolls again.

The second roll gives a 3, bringing the running total to 4. Qex likes Everyone, but especially, female people and ...

A third roll of 4 produces a running total of 8, so the list of who Qex likes consists of everyone, but especially female people and non-binary people.

For romance, a initial roll of 2 means Qex is only romantically attracted to female people; Cadera doesn't roll again because there aren't three dots after the result.

Specific Type of Attraction

For each result above, you can roll on the next table to see if they've got a "type". Again, roll 1d6 and keep adding if the result ends in three dots.

Table 11: Specific Type of Attraction

1d6+ Result	1d6+ Result
1 Everyone, but especially ...	7 Everyone
2 Traditionally “masculine” and ...	8 Androgynous and ...
3 Traditionally “feminine”	9 Traditionally “masculine” and ...
4 Everyone	10 Traditionally “feminine”
5 Traditionally “masculine”	11 Androgynous
6 Traditionally “feminine” and ...	12+ Everyone

QExample

Qex's demisexuality includes attraction to everyone, female people, and non-binary people, and Cadera thinks that's enough of a “type”, sexually. She's much more interested in seeing what kind of person Qex likes.

An initial roll of 2 means Qex likes traditionally “masculine” women, which Cadera interprets to mean Qex likes butches. A second roll of 5 gives a running total of 7, which is everyone; so although butch women are a special interest, Qex is interested in everyone female.

The Closet

As with gender, you can use The Closet table to roll if Qex is open about their sexual and romantic attractions, or if they keep them well hidden.

Relationship Status

If you think it may matter, you can roll on Relationship Status to determine if Qex is single or not.

Play Safely

Neither GMs nor players should just assume that romance or sexual activities will ensue between any given characters.

Before such topics even become a potential issue, you should ensure that you have safety tools in place to prevent discomfort at the gaming table.

The TTRPG Safety Toolkit by Kienna Shaw and Lauren Bryant-Monk compiles a number of techniques designed to make your games safer for everyone.

Table 12: Relationship Status

2d6 Status	2d6 Status
2 Caught in a bad romance	8 Looking for friends
3 In a polycule of 1d4+1	9 Single, not looking
4 In a monogamous relationship	10 In an open relationship
5 Single and looking	11 Disinterested in relationships
6 Looking for fun	12 Polyamorous, 2d4 partners
7 Single, not interested

QExample

Because Cadera knows her players have a tendency to hit on her NPCs, she figures she should roll to see if Qex is in a relationship currently. With a result of 10 on the die, that means Qex is involved with someone, but it's an open relationship – good news for the player characters!

Being single doesn't necessarily mean Qex is willing to flirt with any player character, however. If you think this might matter, roll 2d6 on Flirting to see how Qex normally flirts; a second time to see how they would like to be flirted with; and a third time for an approach that will simply not work on them at all.

Table 13: Flirting

2d6 Flirting	2d6 Flirting
2 Subtle and sophisticated charm	8 Adorkable, flustered cluelessness
3 Sexual innuendo	9 Earnest compliments
4 Not interested in flirting	10 Overwrought melodrama
5 Playful and teasing flirtation	11 Aggressive pursuit
6 Mild flirtation	12 Insults and sharp words
7 Chaste banter

QEXample

Rolling three times on the Flirting table, Cadera gets these results, in order:

8 - adorable cluelessness This version of Qex is apparently not the best at navigating courtship, but still looks cute while doing embarrassing things.

9 - earnest compliments That's what will really interest Qex in someone else – if they give honest compliments, without veering into flattery or manipulation.

3 - sexual innuendo Crass lewdness is a turn-off for Qex; anyone trying that will at the very least end up on poor terms with Qex.

Appearance

Queer people come in all shapes, sizes, colors, and variety. Many times, queer people are more willing to take risks with their appearance than non-queer people. These tables will help you determine what Qex looks like.

Body Shape

Roll 2d6 on Body Shape Rolls to determine how many tables to roll on. Assume that Qex is unremarkable in any category you don't roll.

Table 14: Body Shape Rolls

Tables to Roll 2d6 On	Tables to Roll 2d6 On
2 A, B	8 A, C, D
3 A, C	9 A, B, D
4 A, D	10 B, C
5 A, B, C	11 B, D
6 B, C, D	12 A, B
7 All four

QEXample

Cadera rolls 2d6 to determine which of the tables she'll roll on to figure out what Qex's body looks like. Rolling a 7, she sees she'll have to roll on each of the following tables.

Table 15: Body Shape A (Tall or Short)

2d4 Body Shape	2d4 Body Shape
2 Very short	5 Average
3 Tall	6 Taller than average
4 Shorter than average	7 Short
	8 Very tall

QEXample

Rolling 2d4, Cadera gets a 4 – so Qex is shorter than average.

“Fat”?

Rather than using some euphemism for fat, the tables here just outright say “fat”. There’s nothing wrong with being fat and the term, when used positively, isn’t rude.

If you’re not sure about all this, you might want to read up on fat acceptance!

Table 16: Body Shape B (Fat or Thin)

2d4 Body Shape	2d4 Body Shape
2 Very fat	6 Thinner than average
3 Thin
4 Heavier than average	7 Fat
5 Average	8 Very thin

QEXample

A total of 7 on 2d4 means that Qex is fat.

Table 17: Body Shape C (Muscular)

2d4 Body Shape
2-3 Less muscular than average
4-6 Average
7 More muscular than average
8 Very muscular

QEXample

Cadera rolls a 7, meaning that Qex is more muscular than average.

Table 18: Body Shape D (Curvy)

2d4 Body Shape
2-3 Less curvy than average
4-6 Average
7 More curvy than average
8 Very curvy

QEXample

With a 4 on the die, Qex is of average curviness.

Putting it all together, Cadera has a clearer image in her head of Qex: short and fat, but also muscular. “Stocky” is the usual word for someone like that!

Hair

Roll 2d6 for Qex's hair color on Hair Color, then 2d6 on Hairstyle.

Table 19: Hair Color

2d6 Hair Color	2d6 Hair Color
2 Roll 1d10+1 three times	8 Pink
3 Gray or white	9 Black
4 Green	10 Red
5 Purple	11 Blonde
6 Blue	12 Roll 1d8+3 two times
7 Brown

QEXample

Cadera rolls 2d6 for Qex's hair color and gets an 8 – Qex has pink hair.

Table 20: Hair Style

2d6 Hairstyle	2d6 Hairstyle
2 Messy	8 Long and loose
3 Mohawk	9 Asymmetric
4 Tails	10 Shaved sides
5 Floppy	11 Bald
6 Short and trimmed	12 Braids
7 Roll 1d6+1 and 1d6+6

QEXample

Rolling a 7, Cadera sees she has to roll 1d6+1 and 1d6+6.

The first results in a 4, so a total of 5 – meaning Qex has “floppy” hair. The second result of a total of 10 gives Qex shaved sides.

Facial Hair

Anyone of any gender can have facial hair. Roll 2d6 on Facial Hair to determine if Qex has a beard or not.

Table 21: Facial Hair

2d6 Facial Hair	2d6 Facial Hair
2 Moustache	10 Stubble
3 Short Beard	11 Van Dyke
4 Sideburns	12 Impressively Long Beard
5-9 None

QEXample

A roll of 3 on the dice gives Qex a nicely trimmed beard.

Returning to the hair color table on a lark, Cadera rolls a 5 – so Qex's beard is purple!

Clothes

While QGen doesn't include a full clothing generator, you can roll on Clothing Style to get a general sense of Qex's style, then on Outfit to determine if their clothing is coordinated or randomly assembled.

Table 22: Clothing Style

1d8 Style	1d8 Style
1 Ornate	5 Professional
2 Colorful	6 Comfortable
3 Ragged	7 Rebellious
4 Casual	8 Subtle

QEXample

With a roll of 4 on the Clothing Style table, Cadera notes down that Qex's clothes are “casual.”

Table 23: Outfit1d6 Outfit

- 1 Matching shirt and pants
- 2 Dress, robes, or gown
- 3-5 Roll separately for top and bottom; matching style
- 6 Roll separately for top and bottom; mismatched styles

QExample

A roll of 4 informs Cadera that Qex's clothes are all of the same style – all casual.

Table 24: Clothing (Top)*2d4 Top

- | | |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| 2 Nothing | 6 Light Jacket |
| 3 Roll 1d6+3 twice | 7 Revealing blouse |
| 4 Formal blouse | 8 Shapeless sweater |
| 5 Shirt | 9 Leather harness |

QExample

Cadera rolls 2d4 and gets a total of 7 – apparently Qex usually wears a comfortable and revealing blouse!

Table 25: Clothing (Bottom)2d4 Bottom

- | | |
|--------------------|-----------------|
| 2 Nothing | 6 Shorts |
| 3 Roll 1d6+3 twice | 7 High boots |
| 4 Long Skirt | 8 Short Skirt |
| 5 Pants | 9 Leather pants |

QExample

A final roll of 2d4 on the Clothing table gives Qex an unremarkable pair of pants.

Age

Queer people can be any age. Roll 2d6 to determine Qex's age, then roll for their apparent age.

Table 26: Age2d6 Age

- | 2d6 Age | Apparent Age |
|------------------|---------------------|
| 2 Youthful | 1d4+1 |
| 3-4 Young Adult | 1d6+1 |
| 5-9 Mature Adult | 1d8+2 |
| 10 Middle-Aged | 1d8+4 |
| 11 Elder | 1d6+6 |
| 12 Ancient | 1d4+8 |

QEXample

Cadera rolls 2d6 and gets a 8 on the die; this means that Qex is a mature adult. According to the table, a mature adult rolls 1d8+2 to find their apparent age; rolling a 2 for a total of 4 means that Qex looks like a young adult.

Biases and Bigotries

⚠ Content Warning: This section mentions a number of bigotries that an NPC might have. In no way is this meant as an endorsement of such beliefs, only that they might appear in a fictional context.

If you think Qex might be a TERF or something, you can roll on Biases and Bigotries to find out.

Table 27: Biases and Bigotries

Bias or 2d20 Bigotry	Bias or 2d20 Bigotry
2 Against queer people	34 Against people from a marginalized race
3 Against cisgender people	35 Against non-binary people
4 Against trans men	36 Against trans women
5 Against bisexual and pansexual people	37 Against non-queer people
6 Against fat people	38 Against asexual and aromantic people
7 Against trans people	39 Against mspec people
8 Against disabled people	40 Roll twice more
9 Against men
10-32 None
33 Against women

QEXample

Cadera decides that Qex might have a flaw, so she rolls on this table to find out – a total of 9 finds that Qex is biased against men. Well, that sucks.
